

Gintare Liudziaite – scientist Gintare Liudziute has a B.S. in Biotechnology and is a specialist in metabolic engineering and developing synthetic biology tools for a range of different microorganisms, including species not used before in industrial solutions. She has thorough experience in cultivating microorganism consortia in bioreactors for production of high-value chemicals.