

Priit Jõers is Head of Research in BiotaTec with previous career in private biotechnology sector (AS Celecure) and in academic research in University of Tampere, Estonian Biocentre and in University of Tartu. With more than 9 years of working as a Principal Investigator and a group leader he has built up a considerable expertise in management of research projects, including deciding and supervising overall strategy, troubleshooting experimental issues, raising funds, developing collaborations and publishing results both in academic journals as well in mainstream press. Priit Jõers holds a M.Sc. in molecular biology and Ph.D. in biochemistry.